Green Power is producing electricity using renewable resources that have a minimum effect on the environment. Electricity can be generated from clean, renewable resources, like solar power, methane gas, and wind energy. Renewable resources create less waste than traditional energy sources such as coal, oil, and nuclear power. Purchasing two blocks of green power for one year equals the environmental benefits of planting an acre of trees in the Tennessee Valley.

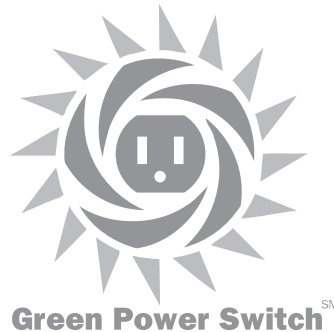

These resources are free, but the technology that captures their energy is still expensive. Increasing demand eventually lowers the cost-but until then, the Green Power Switch program relies on the cooperation and support of our residential and commercial users. SCES currently has 214 residential customers and 77 commercial customers who have made the switch to green power.

For an additional $4 each month, Green Power Switch supplies a "block" of green power equal to 150 kilowatt-hours of energy. At this rate, the program provides ample electricity to support participating businesses in the Tennessee Valley.

This Earth Day, April 22, consider signing up for the Green Power Switch Program. For more information, call Lucas Harkleroad at 865-774-6264
